"Family: where life begins and love never ends." - Unknown

Dear Parents and Guardians:

It was such a delight to see so many of you at Back to School Night yesterday. When I see the level of involvement of the families at St. Stan's it is very obvious why our children thrive academically, physically, socially and faithfully. The partnership between home and school is one of the most important and valuable partnerships we can develop for our children. I hope you were able to see the intense level of commitment and caring our teachers have for each child that enters their classroom.

Some items that were not covered last night but I need to make you aware of are:

1. Our parent/student handbook specifically mentions that we cannot accept any homework, supplies or projects after the morning bell. We enforce this to help build responsibility in all of our students from the youngest through our most mature.
2. Also, if you could help us in keeping cafeteria costs down, we ask that if you send in snacks or lunches that require utensils, we are asking that you send them in with your children. Additionally, younger grades may have snack in their classroom and our classrooms are not supplied with utensils.
3. Lastly, I have extended wearing spring uniforms until next Friday, beginning Monday, October 6th winter uniforms must be worn.

Your help and cooperation with these matters are greatly appreciated!

I want to reiterate what I said last night, my door is always open to families and the entire community of St. Stan's to hear your concerns, answer your questions, and listen to your suggestions. You are as always in my prayers.

God Bless,

Elena Malinconico
