"If you want a happy ending that depends, of course, on where you stop your story." Orson Welles

June 2, 2016

Dear St. Stan's Families:

As the end of the school year is just days away, I find that this is my last letter home to you for the school year. What is so wonderful about my job is that the story of our students doesn't stop, it gets paused for some much deserved, rest, relaxation and play.

Next week, we will have our Tricky Tray on Monday evening, preschool graduation at 9:00am on Wednesday and kindergarten graduation the same day at 7:00pm in the evening. June 9th, report cards will be sent home and it will be the last day for non returning students. June 10th is our moving up day festivities and there will be no after care when we dismiss at 12 noon. This year has been full of adventures, learning, growth and even a few failures but I assure you I can confidently state that I still have the most wonderful job in the world.

On moving up day all students will be handed a packet of summer work that needs to be completed no later than September 2, 2016. This work is counted as a first marking period grade and under no circumstance will any assignment handed in after September 2, 2016 be accepted and graded. Part of this packet will not be the typical math packet but rather it will be online IXL work that teachers will be monitoring throughout the summer. All students should know their pass code and ID. If there is an issue with not remembering this, please contact the school office immediately.

One final note for this year on the survey, many parents indicated that they were looking for healthier lunch options. I will be working with Mrs. Cassidy over the summer to add more healthy choices into our menu. Also, parents requested more stay trips during the year. I am excited to say that we already have three great programs booked for the 2016-2017 school year.

I hope your summer is filled with joyful play, quiet rest, and all of God's blessings.

In His Peace,

Elena Malinconico
